

Scattered Acres Farm is the realization of a long-held, years-in-the-making, dream; an aspiration--in order of importance--to grow food using regenerative practices based on a stewardship of the land, to make this food available at the local level to all who might desire it, and to provide its operators a livable income in the process. The farm's home base is in Hendrum, Minnesota and produces eggs, vegetables, apples, honey, meat, and other homemade food products; we do not use chemicals, pesticides, or commercial fertilizers in the production of foodstuffs.

<https://sites.google.com/site/scatteredacresfarms/home>

Scattered Acres Farm is the realization of a long-held, years-in-the-making, dream; an aspiration--in order of importance--to grow food using regenerative practices based on a stewardship of the land, to make this food available at the local level to all who might desire it, and to provide its operators a livable income in the process. The farm's home base is in Hendrum, Minnesota and produces eggs, vegetables, apples, honey, meat, and other homemade food products; we do not use chemicals, pesticides, or commercial fertilizers in the production of foodstuffs.

<https://sites.google.com/site/scatteredacresfarms/home>

Scattered Acres Farm is the realization of a long-held, years-in-the-making, dream; an aspiration--in order of importance--to grow food using regenerative practices based on a stewardship of the land, to make this food available at the local level to all who might desire it, and to provide its operators a livable income in the process. The farm's home base is in Hendrum, Minnesota and produces eggs, vegetables, apples, honey, meat, and other homemade food products; we do not use chemicals, pesticides, or commercial fertilizers in the production of foodstuffs.

<https://sites.google.com/site/scatteredacresfarms/home>

Scattered Acres Farm is the realization of a long-held, years-in-the-making, dream; an aspiration--in order of importance--to grow food using regenerative practices based on a stewardship of the land, to make this food available at the local level to all who might desire it, and to provide its operators a livable income in the process. The farm's home base is in Hendrum, Minnesota and produces eggs, vegetables, apples, honey, meat, and other homemade food products; we do not use chemicals, pesticides, or commercial fertilizers in the production of foodstuffs.

<https://sites.google.com/site/scatteredacresfarms/home>